

Learning For Employment Second Report On Vocational Education And Training Policy In Europe Executive summary

by Steve Bainbridge, Julie Murray, Tim Harrison, Terry Ward, Catalogue no.:TI-52-03-708-EN-C, 2003, 22 pp., published by Cedefop, free of charge

Eva SMIRLI

Marketing assistant publications and dissemination service
Cedefop-European Centre
for the Development of Vocational Training
Thessaloniki-GREECE

ESM@cedefop.eu.int

By 2010, Europeans will live in the most competitive and dynamic knowledge-based economy in the world, with more and better jobs and greater social cohesion. This is the EU's strategic goal, agreed at Lisbon in March 2000.

'Learning for employment', Cedefop's second report on vocational education and training policy in Europe argues that achieving the goal is a real possibility, but doing so requires giving greater urgency to the reforms of education and training under way in Member States.

Table of contents

1. Executive summary	3
1.1. Introduction	3
1.2. European vocational education and training policy framework	4
1.3. Learning for employment: labour market analysis	7
1.3.1. Participation in education and vocational training	7
1.3.2. Equal opportunities and social inclusion	11
1.3.2.1. Reducing the number of young people with inadequate educational qualifications	11
1.3.2.2. Equal opportunities	12
1.3.2.3. Reducing early retirement among older workers	12
1.3.2.4. Integrating disadvantaged groups into the workforce	13
1.4. Reducing skills gaps	13
1.4.1. Rising levels of educational attainment	13
1.4.2. Prospective labour requirements in 2010	14
1.5. Improving vocational education and training in the Member States	16
1.6. Conclusions	18
References	21

The executive summary of the report is available in Danish, German, Greek, English, Spanish, Finnish, French, Italian, Dutch, Portuguese and Swedish and can be downloaded for free from http://www2.trainingvillage.gr/etv/publication/result_public.asp?from=1&cedefop_nr=4027

The full report is available in hard-copy in English, at the price of 30 Euro and can be ordered online from http://www2.trainingvillage.gr/etv/publication/orderform/form.asp?pub_id=350 or e-mail a request with full postal details to <mailto:esm@cedefop.eu.int>

PRINT

RETURN