

In the article titled "Kılıç AF, Bayrak M, Çadirci K. Body mass index and Hemoglobin A1c levels in diabetic adults. Pharmata 2023;3(4):84-86. DOI: 10.5152/Pharmata.2023.23015" published in the 3rd volume and 4th issue of Pharmata in 2023, the year of the study was inadvertently written incorrectly by the author in the following sentence in the Methods section, and the study started in November 2022.

Our research was carried out in two research hospitals (Erzurum Regional Training and Research Hospital and Erzurum Mareşal Çakmak State Hospital) between September 2022 and February 2023. This prospective study was carried out with the data of 307 patients aged 18 and over and 99 healthy individuals whose HbA1c measurements were made between September 2022 and February 2023.

The sentence will be changed to the following.

Our research was carried out in two research hospitals (Erzurum Regional Training and Research Hospital and Erzurum Mareşal Çakmak State Hospital) between November 2022 and February 2023. This prospective study was carried out with the data of 307 patients aged 18 and over and 99 healthy individuals whose HbA1c measurements were made between November 2022 and February 2023.

We apologize to our readers for this error.

