THE FACULTY OF VETERINARY MEDICINE, YÜZÜNCÜ YIL UNIVERSITY SINCE THE ESTABLISHMENT DATE

The occupation of veterinary was empirically applied up to eighteenth century. In the world, in the scientific meaning, the proficiency of veterinary started with the opening of the veterinarian school in Lyon, France in 1762. In Turkey, the occupation of modern veterinary began with the opening of first veterinarian school for education in military form in İstanbul in 1842. Later on, the first civilian veterinarian school was opened in 1889. Those two veterinarian school were reunited in 1921 and was transferred to Ankara within the body of the High Institute of Agriculture in 1933. The Faculty of Veterinary Sciences was incorporated into University of Ankara in 1948. During the following years, the Faculties of Veterinarian Medicine was opened in the cities such as Elazığ (1970), İstanbul (1972), Bursa (1978), and Konya (1982). The purpose of this study is to reveal the historical development of the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Yüzüncü Yıl University (YYU) from the establishment day up to now. Several archives were searched in order to obtain the data regarding the topic. The data obtained was evaluated in classical history methodology.
