EDITORIAL

We share the happiness of having completed the second year of publication with the second volume and the 4th issue of the Journal of Health Sciences and Medicine. In this issue, we publish ‘Basic life support in pediatrics’ which should be known in emergency situations in daily practice. In addition, we share three research articles, one experimental research article, one research article from abroad and three case reports that we think will contribute to the current literature in medicine. These articles contain detailed information and comments for general practitioners, medical students, and basic medical sciences, as well as departments of gastroenterology, pharmacology, cardiovascular surgery, internal medicine, family medicine, pediatrics, pathology, neurosurgery, radiology. The objective of the Editorial and Editorial Board is to increase the scientific quality of our journal to a higher number in Turkey and abroad. With this issue, we completed the second year of our publication life. We would like to thank all the editors, assistant editors, members of the editorial board and valuable researchers who have contributed to the publication of the journal. On this occasion, we wish our article to continue its publication life regularly and with rich content. I wish in the hope that it will be included in the TR Index-ULAKBİM index as soon as possible. Yours truly.
