Journal of Anglo-Turkish Relations Volume 5 Number 1 January 2024

Dear Readers,

In Volume 5 Issue 1 of the Journal of Anglo-Turkish Relations, we have six research articles, one short report, one interview, and two book review.

In the first article, Erdal KORKMAZ discusses the struggle for influence of England and France in the Çukurova region during the Turkish War of Independence and the developments in Adana during this period.

In the second article, Hilal ŞAHİN presents from a different perspective the geography of India, which has a special importance in the context of the history of colonial empires, and the problems to which the people of India have been exposed.

Seda EKREM, in the third article, discusses the importance of the Hospice institution, which can be considered as the end of the social state practices in the late Ottoman Empire, for poor women based on various archive documents, thus aiming to contribute to the research of the history of poverty in the context of gender

The fourth article, authored by Sultan GÜRSOY, discusses the concept of 'folkland' in Anglo-Saxon Britain..

Ulvi KESER, in the fifth article, presents an account of the situation of the Turkish Cypriots who took refuge in British sovereign bases during the Peace Operation of 1974.

In the final article, Vedat MERAL investigates the social life of the Muslim Moplah people in India and their anti-British struggle.

The interview in this issue was conducted by Çiğdem BALIM with Koray ERTAŞ, the Turkish Ambassador to London.

In addition to the articles and interview, there is a short report by Batuhan ULUKÜTÜK on the history of translation and interpretation practices in the Republican era.

Finally, Burcu KAYA reviews the book by Osman Okyar, Mustafa Kemal in Turkish – Soviet Relations in the War of Independence, (1920-1921), İstanbul: Türkiye İş Bankası Kültür Yayınları, 2017. The second review is by Fuat UÇAR of the Turkish translation by Cengiz İ. Çay of M. H. Donohoe's, İngiltere'nin İran/Azerbaycan Seferi (1918), ed. Kaya Ataberk, Tarih ve Kuram Yayınları, İstanbul, 2016.

We hope you enjoy this collection of works that we have brought together in this issue, and we look forward to meeting you again with the next issue.
