
CONTRIBUTORS

Meri Tek Demir holds a B.A. in English Language and Literature from Istanbul Kültür University with full scholarship, where she also completed a minor degree in Arts Management. She completed her M.A. in English Language and Literature Department of Istanbul University with a dissertation entitled “Representation of the Victorian Era in Postmodern English Novels: The French Lieutenant’s Woman and Ever After”. Currently, she is working as a research assistant in the Western Languages and Literatures Department of Mimar Sinan Fine Arts University and she continues working on her Ph.D. dissertation titled “Ekphrasis in Contemporary British Women’s Writing” in the English Language and Literature Department of Ege University. Her research interests include Postmodern and Contemporary novel, art and literature studies, women’s writing, comparative studies and world literature.

ORCID: 0000-0002-2085-3057 / E-mail: meritek90@gmail.com - meri.tek@msgsu.edu.tr

Müge Kesiktaş Gençođlan holds a B.A. and M.A. in English Language and Literature from Selcuk University. She is writing her doctoral dissertation at Ege University in English Language and Literature and is currently working as a lecturer at Izmir University of Economics. Her research interests include postmodernism and ecocritical studies.

ORCID: 0000-0002-6314-8446 / E-mail: mugegencoglan@gmail.com

Ramazan Saral is currently working as a research assistant at the Department of English Language and Literature, Ege University. He received his Ph.D. entitled “Mythopeia as a Means of Reevaluating Human History in the Works of William Blake” at the same institution in December 2023. His academic interests are poetry, English Romanticism, mythopoeia, William Blake and drama.

ORCID: 0000-0001-6368-0830 / E-mail: ramosaral@gmail.com

Elif Derya Şenduran holds a B.A. in English Language and Literature from Ankara University. She received her M.A. in English Language and Literature from Hacettepe University. She completed her Ph.D. in English Literature at Middle East Technical University in December 2020 with her dissertation entitled “The Intersection between Two Others, the East and the West in E.M. Forster’s A Passage to India”.

ORCID: 0000-0002-4840-5053 / E-mail: elifderyasenduran@outlook.com

Eleni Ermioni Tasioula is a graduate student of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. She holds a B.A. in English Language and Literature and a M.A. in English and American Studies. Her M.A. focuses on American immigrant literature as well as issues of identity, belonging, contemporary crisis, feminist care ethics, spatial theory in literature, and individual/communal reconstruction. Her research interests encompass contemporary transcultural Anglophone literature, cultural theory, identity construction, multiculturalism in American literature and narrative ethics. Her recent research includes works of Latin American female writers and focuses on identity negotiation, belonging and spatial theory in literature.

ORCID: 0009-0006-0040-8649 / E-mail: elinatas6@gmail.com

Şebnem Toplu is Professor of English Literature at Ege University, Izmir, Türkiye. She holds a B.A. in English Linguistics and Literature from Bođaziçi University and an M.A. and Ph.D. from Ege University. Apart from numerous articles and book chapters on various literary works and theories, her books include Cultural Materialism: Text and Context Relation in Jane Austen’s Works (Modena: Il Fiorino, 2001), Diverse Aspects of Italy and Italians in Contemporary British Literature (Modena: Il Fiorino, 2001), Fiction Unbound: Bernardine Evaristo (Cambridge Scholars Publishing, 2011) Gale Researcher Guide for: Transnationalism and Diasporic Linkings: The Case of Andrea Levy. (Michigan: Gale, 2018) and Life and Literature in Eighteenth Century England (İzmir: Ege University Press 2014, expanded ed. 2019). She acted as the editor of the journal Interactions between 2002 and 2020.

ORCID: 0000-0002-1552-7564 / E-mail: sebnemtoplu@hotmail.com