

FROM EDITOR

Dear researchers;

First, as the founding editors of our Sinop Journal of Theology, which we started to work with the decision taken by the Sinop University Senate on May 15, 2024, we would like to state that we are happy to publish the first issue. Although it is the first issue of our journal, we would like to thank you for the interest shown by our esteemed researchers to our journal. In our first issue, there are 6 research articles and 2 book reviews written by researchers specialized in their fields. The field distribution of the research articles is 2 Tafsir, 1 Psychology of Religion, 1 Sociology, 1 Islamic History and 1 Islamic Law. As for the book reviews, 1 is in the field of Religious Education and 1 is in the field of Tafsir. We hope that each of these studies, which have undergone a rigorous editorial and referee evaluation process, will fill an important gap in their field and serve as a source for many scientific studies. With the support of our “field editors” and “reviewers” who are experts in their fields, each article is evaluated separately, discussed in the editorial board and the publication decision is made in this way. We endeavour to have our journal indexed in TR Dizin and other international indexes as soon as possible. In this sense, we hope that you will continue to support us with your research articles in Turkish, English and Arabic in our next issues. In this process, I would like to thank each member of our journal team who worked devotedly day and night to deliver our first issue to you, our reviewers who meticulously evaluated the articles, and you, our valuable readers who follow and value our journal.

We hope to meet you in our second issue with more publications that we believe will be useful...
