International Advanced Researches and Engineering Journal (IAREJ) is founded as a peer-reviewed and publicly available online journal. IAREJ aims to provide a research source for researchers working on engineering. The editor in chief of IAREJ invites all manuscripts that cover theoretical and/or applied researches on engineering and related science. The publication language of the Journal is English. The online open-access journal will be supported by an editorial board consisting of experts in engineering disciplines from different countries. We publish original papers that are research papers and technical review papers. We aim that publications by IAREJ will be indexed by leading international and TR indexes. We would like to thank all authors who submit and publish article in this issue.
