

Dear Authors;

Based on the article "An ethics committee approval must be obtained for research conducted in all disciplines including social sciences and for clinical and experimental studies on humans and animals, requiring ethical committee decision, and this approval should be stated and documented in the article." in the 2020 Criteria of TR Index, "ethics committee approval" is required for articles that have been or will be uploaded to our journal's system after January 1, 2020, and that contain quantitative/qualitative field research. Articles without ethics committee approval should be removed from the process at any stage.

Wishing you good work.

Prof. Ayfer ŞAHİN

Chief Editor of Ahi Evran Institute of Social Sciences Journal

The entire relevant article of TR Index is as follows:

The following should be observed under the code of ethics:

1. An ethics committee approval must be obtained for research conducted in all disciplines including social sciences and for clinical and experimental studies on humans and animals, requiring ethical committee decision, and this approval should be stated and documented in the article.
2. Information on the ethical rules under separate headings should be provided under this heading, for the peer-reviewers, authors and editors.
3. It should be stated that the articles comply with Research and Publication Ethics.
4. Reference to international standards and institutions should be made. For example, scientific articles sent to journals should take into account the recommendations of the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE) and the International Standards for Editors and Authors of Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE).
5. In studies requiring ethical committee permission, information about the permission (board name, date and issue number) should be included in the method section and on the first/last page of the article.
6. For the scales used in data collection, the permission of the scale owner should be obtained and declared in the article.
7. Copyright regulations must be observed for the ideas and works of art used.
