

P2. THE FORENSIC DEVELOPMENT IN TAIWAN

Chang-En PU

Vice President, Taiwan Academy of Forensic Science (TAFS), Taiwan, ROC

Scientific and technological methods are extensively executed in crime scene investigations which are entrusted from various levels of judicial organizations in Taiwan for seeking out the corpus delicti.

By augmenting new high-tech devices, training forensic scientists, applying ISO 17025 guidelines and emphasizing R&D, the forensic society has been honored with valuable public praise in arena of scientific examination and identification at both home and abroad.

Besides 4 main forensic science laboratories, Universities (like Central Police Univ.), Accreditation Organization (Taiwan Accreditation Foundation-TAF), Taiwan Academy of Forensic Science (TAFS), The Henry C. Lee Forensic Science Foundation, and Journals all work together to form the forensic society and through positive interaction thus enhance the capability of the society, then accordingly strengthen the quality of the law enforcement and judicial system.
