George JAPOSHVILI** Ismail KARACA**

Summary

Parasitoid Encyrtids of coccids were surveyed in Isparta Province collections of Natural History Museum in London were investigated and literatura data was studied during the years 2001 to 2006. Forty-five encyrtid species belonging to 21 genera were determined to be parasitoids of 28 species of coccids in Turkey. More than 78 species of coccids appear to be hosts of encyrtids listed in present paper. All synonyms recorded previously are given.

Key words: Chalcidoidea, Encyrtidae, Hemiptera, Coccidae, Turkey

Anahtar sözcükler: Chalcidoidea, Encyrtidae, Hemiptera, Coccidae, Türkiye

Introduction

Many scale insects (Hemiptera: Coccoidea) are notorious pests especially on perennial, fruit and nut trees, ornamental shade trees and shrubs, forest trees, and in greenhouse and indoor plantings (Kaydan et al., 2006). One of the potentially useful method to control harmful scales is to use natural enemies, especially from superfamily Chalcidoidea. The Hymenopteran superfamily Chalcidoidea is a hyperdiverse group of insects currently including some 22,000 described species worldwide (Noyes, 2006). The family of Encyrtidae is one of the most important groups in the biological control of agricultural pests (Noyes, 1985; Greathead, 1986). Thus the group is particularly important in parts of the world where natural control is preferable to pesticide use for ecological, financial or political reasons (Japoshvili & Noyes, 2005). The first comprehensive account of encyrtids from the area is that of Trjapitzin & Doğanlar (1997) recorded only 50 species from Turkey, but further 52 species were recorded by various authors (Tunçürek, 1970; Japoshvili & Karaca, 2002a, b; 2004; Karaca & Japoshvili, 2002; Japoshvili et al., 2004; Uygun et al., 2004; Japoshvili, 2005; Japoshvili & Noyes, 2005, 2006). When compared with more than 230 species recorded from United Kingdom (Noyes, 2006), a relatively small area, it is likely that the recorded encyrtid fauna of these areas represents only a tiny fraction of the actual fauna (Japoshvili & Noyes, 2005).

Material and Methods

This paper is intended to summarise the published data concerning Encyrtidae in the region, and also to communicate new data resulting largely from survey work undertaken in the Natural History Museum, London UK and in Turkey by senior author during 2001-2006.

Abbreviations for depositories of specimens mentioned below are as follows: BMNH – Natural History Museum, London, UK; IZGAS – Georgian Institute of Zoology, Tbilisi, Georgia; ZIN – Zoological Institute, Russian Academy of Sciences, StPetersburg, Russia; AFSDU-Museum of Faculty of Agriculture, Süleyman Demirel University, Isparta, Turkey.

All species given in the list without material examined are taken from literature sources.

Discussion

By this work 21 genera and 45 species of Encyrtidae were recorded on Coccidae from Turkey. On the other hand, Acanthopulvinaria orientalis, Ceroplastes floridensis, C. helichrysi, C. japonicus, C. rubens, C. rusci, C. sinensis, Coccus hesperidum, C. pseudomagnolarum, Eriopeltis festucae, Eulecanium ciliatum, E. nocivum, E. rugulosum, E. tiliae, Filippia viburni, F. follicularis, Lichtenia viburni, Palaeolecanium bituberculatum, Parthenolecanium corni, P. persicae, P. pruinosa, P. rufulum, Physokermes piceae, Pulvinaria floccifera, P. vitis, Pulvinariella mesembryanthemi, Rhodococcus perornatus, Saissetia coffeae, S. oleae, S. privigna, Sphaerolecanium prunastri were recorded as a host coccid species of listed encyrtids. This brings the total number to 31 species. While the encyrtids recorded in the paper appear to be parasitoids of more 78 species of coccids throughout the world.

Sphaerolecanium prunastri is recorded as a most important pest for fruit orchards of Turkey and Discodes coccophagus as a most effective encyrtid species in the number regulation of this pest (Karaca et al., 2003).

Özet

Türkiye'de Coccidae (Hemiptera: Coccoidea) Familyasının Encyrtid (Hymenoptera: Chalcidoidea, Encyrtidae) parazitoitleri

Isparta İli'nden 2001 – 2006 yıllarında toplanan coccidlerden elde edilen encyrtid parazitoitler Londra (İngiltere) Natural History Museum'daki kolleksiyon ile karşılaştırılarak teşhis edilmiştir. Ayrıca, daha önce Türkiye'den toplanarak bu müzeye gönderilen örnekler de incelenerek listeye dahil edilmiştir. Söz konusu veriler literatür bilgisi ile de desteklenmiştir. Çalışma sonucunda 21 cinse bağlı toplam 45 encyrtid türün, Coccidae familyasına ait 31 tür ile ilişkili olduğu saptanmıştır. Bununla birlikte 78'den fazla coccid türünün listelenen parazitoitlerin konukçusu olabileceği bulunmuştur. Daha önce bildirilen tüm sinonimler verilmiştir.
