EDITORIAL

Dear researchers,

It is very exciting to present a new issue of our e-journal, entitled EJESS [European Journal of Educational & Social Sciences], [Vol. 4 (1), May 2019], to the interdisciplinary literature. Every issue provides new ambitions and motivation for us to reach a better journal, thanks to your fruitful and motivational support, collaboration and encouragement.

EJESS aims to present original research on educational and social sciences in an interdisciplinary perspective covering sociology, education, psychology, politics, theology, anthropology, law, literature, linguistics, philosophy, history, human geography etc. The journal also seeks for opportunities to broaden its partners, reviewers and organizations. EJESS now supports Eurasian Conference on Language and Social Sciences (ECLSS2019), as a trigger to reach enlarged context. Papers utilizing and/or following interdisciplinary perspectives are highly welcomed and encouraged. It is of interest and open to all researchers, academics, and those people concerned with mediating research findings to practitioners.

Scholarly work requires a great deal of effort, ambition and motivation since it encompasses a broad range of various disciplines, perspectives, methodologies and criteria. Within its natural context, we, as EJESS, sometimes include papers from international conferences in different countries so that we can feel proud to provide open platform for diverse researchers all around the world.

Within this perspective and vision, this issue presents you six research papers from diverse methodological perspectives and cultures.

Peter Oluwaseun Oyewale, in his paper titled ‘A Historical Re-Assessment of Yoruba Women in Cocoa Production in Nigeria: A Case of Tonkere Farm Settlement in Osun State’ discusses and highlights the role of African women in cocoa production. Sadete PLLANA and Albulena PLLANA BREZNICA focus on word formation characteristics in Albanian and English Languages. The authors make a list of some specific prefixes and/or suffixes for the terminology in Economics, in their paper titled ‘Overview of the Most Productive Prefixes and Suffixes in the Terminology of Economy in Accordance (Compared) with the English Language’. Omar Gonzales LAMINA provides data and findings from the Philippines context in his study entitled ‘Potential Link between Several Learner Characteristics and Second Quarter Achievement in Science (Physics) of Grade VIII Students’. In ‘Overview of the Appeal and Development of Technical Terminology in the Albanian Areal’, Gani PLLANA and Sadete PLLANA examine terminology and compare Albanian and English. Ogunlusi Temitope CLEMENT, in the paper entitled ‘John 2: 13-17 and its Implications for Church Commercialisation in Nigeria’ reviews Bible and highlights the implications for church commercialization. The author emphasizes “...greed, excessive love of money and material riches will always lead to commercialization of religion...” and that would be a barrier for a humble service. Nguyen Anh TRU, The Relationship between Education, Economic Growth and Unemployment: Evidence in Eastern Europe, presents data and figures regarding the expenditure on different sectors in Eastern Europe and concludes that economic growth negatively affects government expenditure on education. However, there is no co-integration among variables in the long run.

We hope that the issues of our journal shall contribute to the field of interdisciplinary research literature. We thank to the journal editors, authors, reviewers and all the others who have contributed to the preparation process of this issue. EJESS will be one of the supporting journals of upcoming 7th Eurasian Conference on Language and Social Sciences (ECLSS2019c, Daugavpils, Latvia), and 8th Eurasian Conference on Language and Social Sciences (ECLSS2019d, Antalya, Turkey). Participants for these organizations are welcomed to submit their proceedings to EJESS database.

Hope to meet you in next issues.
