

PHOENIX MEDICAL JOURNAL

---

Anka Tıp Dergisi

- SARS-CoV-2 Variants of Concern and Their Properties
- The Effect of Lactate and Lactate Clearance on Mortality in Sepsis Patients Admitted to the Emergency Department
- Serum Lactate may be a Marker for Determining 30-Day Mortality in Patients with Acute Upper Gastrointestinal System Bleeding
- The Relationship of Attachment with Functionality, Insight and Adaptation to The Treatment in Patients with Schizophrenia
- Examination of Geriatric Trauma Patients Presenting to the Emergency Department
- Evaluation of DNA Versus Collagen Perception in Scientific Articles Examining Cancer Chemotherapy: Implication for Collagen-Based Approaches
- Clinical Comparison of MASCC and CISNE Scores in Neutropenic Febrile Patients in the Emergency Department
- A Rare Case: Myocardial Infarction during Pregnancy
- Spontaneous Pneumothorax Developing in the Late Period in Association with COVID-19 infection: A Case Report
- Peripartum Cardiomyopathy in Emergency Department: A Case Report
- Bennett's Fracture
- Increasing Importance of Infectious Diseases Specialization in the Management of Healthcare-Related Infections in the Pandemic