

AIM & SCOPE

Caucasian Journal of Science Journal is an international journal published since 2014. In this journal, research articles, short reports, case reports, compilation articles and editorial letters in the field of science and technology, health and science education are written in English or Turkish. The publishing principles of the magazine are based on the principles of independent, prejudiced and double-blind arbitration. Caucasian Journal of Science is published twice a year (June and December). All submitted articles are evaluated by the relevant editor and at least two referees. The ICMJE standards are observed in the evaluation of the manuscripts. Access to full texts of published articles is free.

You can access our EndNote style from the link below.

<https://researchsoftware.com/>

Due to the ethical policy of our era, plagiarism can not be tolerated. The contents of all articles submitted for publication to our journal are checked against the extensive database of plagiarism control software and current academic publications. Despite these checks, the responsibility for the plagiarism transactions that may be mentioned belongs to the authors.
